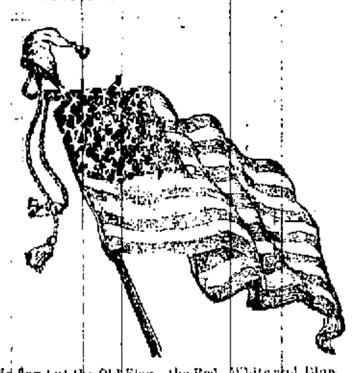
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1862.

The Rebel Press.

There has been, in all time since the South commenced the rebellion, a class of presses professing the most extravagant love for the Union, but laboring constantly to place the Government in the wrong and to create sympathy for the rebels. The whole clan of presses, calling themselves "democratic," of this State, belonged to the class in question. With them the Louisville Courier was a great paper—decidedly democratic, altogether orthodox. The attacks of that paper upon the Administration and distinguished Union men were, by Oregon "democratic editors"—of the Breckinridge tribe—"rolled as sweet morsels under their tongues."

Government forbade the use of the mails to the Courier—and there went out from the "democratic" presses—we mean the Breckinridge presses—a perfect howl against the unconstitutionality of the act, and the tyranny and recklessness of the Government. The Courier type, press and editor, soon found their way into the enemy's camp at Bowling Green, and later, still followed the fortunes of the secesh army into Nashville.

Nashville, in due time, fell into the hands of the Union forces, and the Courier office stopped there for good—ceasing to send out rebellious sheets. The name of the editor, under all its journeyings, was "R. M'KEE."

After the public offices in Nashville had fallen into Union hands, the office of the Secretary of State was examined for the purpose of finding information which might be useful to the Federal forces. In that office was found several communications, some of them without signatures, but filed as "LETTERS FROM R. M'KEE," the aforesaid editor of the Louisville Courier that was. These letters show that he was a regular rebel spy, while he was spouting a kind of democracy upon which the Breckinridge papers in Oregon loved to feed. We make a few brief extracts from his correspondence. He writes under date of

"LOUISVILLE, KY., July 4, 1861.

There are, I am informed, one hundred and thirteen freight and passenger cars, and eight or nine locomotives at the depot at this end of the L. & N. R. R. It is probable, as this seems to be an unusual number, that the stock of the road is being concentrated here, so as to put it in possession of the Lincoln forces, should they be called here, as is probable, to enforce the order forbidding shipments on the road. It appears to me that Guthrie is playing into the hands of the Administration in every manner possible. Matters seem to be approaching a crisis. It is impossible to say what a day may bring forth.

Respectfully, V."

There was another letter, showing that the (afterwards) rebel General, Buckner, was in Washington, ascertaining our military strength and the policy of the Government, all which information he communicated to M'Kee, and M'Kee communicated the same to the Secretary of State at Nashville, for the information of the rebels.

M'Kee, it seems, comprehended the designs of the Southern politicians in the conventions at Charleston and Baltimore, and in one of letters claimed pay for his services. M'Kee, like the Oregon Delegation, "went out to stand." He thus writes:

"LOUISVILLE, June 11, 1861.

DEAR GENERAL: I beg to trouble you with an inquiry, and possibly with a request. The labors which my position as political editor of the Courier impose on me, and which I have performed without intermission or assistance for nearly two years, save and except only when I was in attendance as a delegate at the conventions of Charleston and Baltimore, in April and June of last year, are affecting my health to such an extent that I deem it necessary to seek service of another and more active nature. It has occurred to me that I might secure the appointment of Aid to some one of the Generals Tennessee has called out; I have as many personal friends and as few personal enemies as any man of my age in Kentucky, and I have thought that my connection in some active manner with the Southern Army would possibly have a BENEFICIAL EFFECT ON THE STATE OF PUBLIC FEELING HERE!

Your most obedient servant,
R. McKEE.

P. S. Not a word of news since my last, except an announcement that at least a portion of the Home Guards will take service under Gen. Sumpter Anderson. I think there is little doubt that Louisville will soon be occupied by Federal troops."

This letter was written two or three weeks before McGoffin called the extra session of the Kentucky Legislature—at which session he expected the State would be passed over into the hands of Jeff. Davis. M'Kee, it will be recollected, based his application for office from rebel hands for services he had done their cause. He had other claims than those based on doing the bidding of rebel politicians at the conventions in Charleston and Baltimore, as the following extract from another letter will show:

"LOUISVILLE, May 31, 1861.

General Anderson, Secretary of State:

A correspondence with the authorities, civil or military, of the Confederate States, is so dangerous that I shall write to you only when I have something to communicate which I do not think proper to make public through the Courier, particularly as the sins for which I am held responsible are of such a character that a point would be strained to make out a pretext for my arrest. Peremptory orders have been received from Washington, by the surveyor of this port, to enforce the embargo laid upon our trade with the South. * * * No resistance will be made in Louisville to this illegal and tyrannical act. The 'Stars and Stripes' are floating from hundreds of poles and house-tops in this city, as so many tokens of submission. I learned from a reliable gentleman that the Government proposes building gunboats for the Mississippi, etc. * * * * I had no intimation of the number contemplated. It is contemplated to collect forty thousand men at Cairo—probably to act in conjunction with the gunboats. In writing hereafter I will substitute same letter of the alphabet for the signature.

Respectfully, R. McKEE."

Here we have the full length portrait of R. McKee, the editor of the Louisville Courier—extracts from whose paper constantly graced the secesh sheets of California and Oregon. All the time was editing the Courier, he was a malignant traitor—secretly plotting to deliver Kentucky into the hands of the rebels and to break up the Government. Our belief is that those editors who sympathized with M'Kee in this State, and who constantly published his writings, were equally anxious for the success of the rebellion and the destruction of the Union. We have just as much confidence in the patriotism of M'Kee, as we have in that of Malone, O'Meara, and others of the little fry of the same species.

ARRIVAL OF THE JULIA.—The Julia arrived at Knott's wharf, foot of Taylor street, last evening, about 6 o'clock. We have dates from Walla Walla to the 12th and from Lewiston to 9th June.

The Columbia river has not risen any within the last 24 hours at the Cascades, and the general belief is now prevalent that the highest mark has been attained. The lower and upper part of the railroad is still standing, though from the caving in of the bank at the center, about 150 feet has been lost. Large quantities of rock have been piled on the works which will undoubtedly secure them from further damage provided the river does not raise any higher. Only the wings of Col. Ruckle's house have been washed away, and we are authorized to state that he is not yet a ruined man, the report in yesterday's Times to the contrary notwithstanding. Col. Ruckle will yet come out all right, and can stand much more loss than he has up to this time sustained, which we hope may not increase.

The Julia brought down 100 passengers and about 800 pounds of gold dust, 335 pounds per Tracy & Co., and 500 pounds in hands of passengers. Lewiston is reported to be almost entirely inundated and the water on Main street at the Dalles is over four feet deep. About 200 tons of freight is now at the Cascades, being gradually transported in wagons across the portage on the wagon road, but under great difficulties.

Eph Day has been heard from. He is on Union-Flat, Powder river, digging away with all his might, in a claim that pays $50 per day to the hand. Eph is all right, "you bet." The gold taken out on this Flat is a course grain gold and weighs about $17 per ounce.

We understand that the water is now on the first floor of the Commissary and Quarter-master's buildings at Vancouver, and is still rising. A vast amount of fencing stuff had passed down the river. The prospect seems to be that the river will continue to rise for several days.

The Committee of arrangements relative to celebrating the Fourth of July met at the Council Room, yesterday afternoon, and adjourned until Monday evening next, at which time it is hoped that a large attendance of the citizens generally will be present to aid the committee by their suggestions in arriving at a satisfactory arrangement of programme for the occasion.

AN INCIDENT IN THE ORIGIN OF SECESSION.—Andy Johnson delivered an address to the Third Minnesota Regiment, near Nashville, on the 23d of April. The Nashville Union reports him as saying:

He knew the leaders of this rebellion well and intimately, both personally and politically, and he declared it was the firm determination of the rebel leaders to overthrow popular government, if they should succeed, and establish a despotism instead of our present liberal institutions. Clayton, the Assistant Secretary of Howell Cobb, declared to him on one occasion, that the people at the South, as well as many at the North, were fully determined to submit to the election of no President who had sprung from the common people, as Abe Lincoln had.

The same paper adds that Governor Johnson also said:

The voice of the overwhelming mass of the North, as well as nine men out of ten who stood before him, was: "We care nothing for your negroes; manage them as best suits yourselves, but the Union shall be preserved, and you must obey the laws."

[This sentiment was confirmed and indorsed by the soldiers with deafening shouts of applause and cries of "That's so!"]

Salmon River Correspondence.

SALMON RIVER MINES,
June 1, 1862.

NEW MOVEMENTS.

You have, perhaps, learned before this that a great many have struck their tents and are on the way to Elk City. A kind of a general movement is on foot to explore that region between here and Elk City. I must say that the prospect is good. Last July when I made a visit to that quarter, I found uniform good claims, paying on an average from $10 to $16 per day. The mines were extensive and plenty of water, wood and grass abounded. I think there are five thousand men ready to leave here; and as "truth is a jewel," there are more here now than can make anything. The duty of a correspondent resembles that of a historian: to mislead may answer for the hour, but justice and honor requires a fair statement.

EXTENT OF THE SALMON RIVER MINES.

After a careful examination I find the mines circumscribed to a small compass—say five or six miles in length and three or four in breadth (such may change a little in time), but yet I cannot discover any further indication of mining land in the neighborhood. True, gold can be found in nearly every quarter you sink a prospect hole, but it does not pay. There are many rumors of new diggings every day, but they are coined for some purpose. Occasionally a little spot is struck which pays tolerably well, but suddenly the gold ceases, and the new discovery is "played out."

WHAT THE MINES RESEMBLE.

Having been up and down every branch, gulch and ravine, prospecting, I can only compare these mines to a fallen tree. Such a similitude may appear ridiculous, but I can discover no other. The trunk of the tree may be called Miller's Creek, and the branches are scattered in every direction around. Again, the lead of gold is narrow, resembling the branch. On this the familiar figure, a stray spot is struck once in a while, as a sort of an attendant to the parent stem.

CURIOSITIES IN THE MINES.

The nature of the country is such, that until quite lately no other animal than man could possibly arrive here; hence man was naturally, and of necessity, made a beast of burthen. The Nez Perces Indians, with more truth than poetry, denominated the men who carried provisions over the mountains on their backs, as "Boston Jackasses." I have seen men carry over one hundred and fifty pounds over the snow and ice, which I found difficult to travel with a pair of blankets hitched to my back. The price of packing has been forty cents per pound, but it has much fallen lately. Two men ruptured blood vessels in trying to make either money or a living, and, poor fellows, they rest from further labor, for they sleep the last sleep that knows no waking. Two others were killed, one shot and the other by accident; and two more, one of consumption and one of scurvy, compose the present grave yard of Florence, or Salmon River. I would give you any quantity and quality of bogus news, but "enough for the day is the evil thereof;" and as your correspondent intends going where most others go, you will hear some again from

RAMBLER.

THE ROAD OVER THE CASCADES.—C. B. Hawley, who has just returned from taking a drove of cattle over the Barlow trail, reports that he experienced great difficulty in getting across the mountains by this route. He states that the snow for at least twenty miles was about twelve feet deep, and for about five miles near six feet deep. Underneath this snow, in many places, large streams of water flow, which has caused the snow to sink, rendering the crossing very dangerous, if not impassable. Great numbers of cattle and horses have been lost, either by failing and getting killed, or by drowning, at these crossings. He advises all who had intended going that way not to start for at least four or six weeks yet to come, as they will find it impossible to get across without sustaining great loss.

STILL RISING.—The Willamette is still rising, having increased about ¾ of an inch from 6 o'clock yesterday morning untill 10 o'clock last night. The water in the Willamette is now at least 28 feet above low water mark and the Columbia about 30 feet. The Columbia at Vancouver is reported to be on a stand. No further damage has occurred since our last reports.

THE BUG NUISANCE.—For several evenings past, Sacramento has been visited with a scourge in the form of myriads of winged bugs, which make their appearance soon after the gas is lighted and remain until the lights are extinguished. Where they come from or go to is a matter of mystery. They are black in color, but differ essentially in form and size.—Union.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden change of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

☞ The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as [illegible] of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, by a more extended labor, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the oracle in that branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures, in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.

City Ordinance.

AN ORDINANCE to protect the public from contagious or dangerous diseases.

The People of the City of Portland do ordain as follows:

SEC. 1. That it shall be the duty of every practicing physician in the city to notify the Mayor or some member of the Committee on Health and Police of the Common Council of said City, in writing, of every case of contagious or infectious diseases in the city, within twelve hours after the existence of such disease shall come to his knowledge, and should any such physician neglect or refuse to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall, for every such offence, be fined by the Recorder of said city in any sum not less than fifty or more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 2. That it shall be, and it is hereby made the duty of the owner or occupant of every house, store, building or tenement in said city, wherein any person may have the small pox or other dangerous or contagious disease or diseases, to give notice in writing to the Mayor of said city of the same within twelve hours after the existence of said disease shall come to his or her knowledge, and should any person fail, neglect or refuse to comply with the requirements of this section, he or she shall, for every such offence, be fined by the Recorder of said City in any sum not less than twenty-five or more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 3. That it shall be, and it is hereby made the duty of the owner or occupant of every house, store, building or tenement in said city, wherein any person may have the small pox or any other dangerous and contagious disease or diseases, to give notice to the public immediately of the existence of such disease in such house, store, building or tenement, by placing a red flag in some conspicuous place on the premises where it may be seen by persons passing on the streets in front of said premises; and in case the owner or occupant of such house, store, building or tenement shall fail or neglect to place such flag as aforesaid, it is hereby made the duty of the Marshal of said city, as soon as he is informed of the existence of such disease in any house, store, building or tenement, to cause such flag to be placed near or on, and such flag, whether placed as aforesaid by such owner or occupant or by the City Marshal, shall remain there until such person having such disease shall have recovered so that no danger by infection shall remain. And any person having neglected or failed to place such flag as hereinbefore directed, or having taken down or destroyed such flag when so placed, before the removal of all danger by infection, shall, upon conviction, be fined therefor by the City Recorder in any sum not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 4. No person having any contagious disease shall go out in public or pass from house to house, or building to building, or appear in any street, alley or other public place in said city, until he or she shall have so far recovered from such disease as to preclude all danger of infection; and if the City Marshal shall see or be informed of any person violating this section, it shall be his duty to cause such person to be taken forthwith to his or her place of residence, if within the city, and if such residence is not within the city, then to such place as the Mayor and Chairman of the Committee of Health and Police may direct. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined by the City Recorder in any sum not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 5. The occupant of any house, store, building or tenement in said city wherein any person may have been sick of any such disease, shall, on the death or recovery of such person from such disease, forthwith destroy by burning or burying the clothes worn by such person during such sickness, and shall cleanse and purify the room and house, store, building or tenement in which such sick person was confined. And any person who shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined in any sum not less than thirty or more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to enforce this Ordinance, and complain of every violation thereof.

SEC. 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval by the Mayor.

Passed the Common Council June 11th, 1862.
O. RISLEY, President.

Attest: H. BOYD, Clerk.
Approved June 12th, A. D. 1862.

E ASYLUM.—We deem it a matter of to our readers to give a brief descrip this Institution which is now pro towards a speedy completion under getic and truly commendable public of Drs Loryea & Hawthorne building is situated in East Portland, opposite side of the river) and is a tial and neat looking edifice, two sto high, with a cupola Large halls run the whole length of the building in stories, and there are three large wards accommodation of the first class pa who are harmless, also a set of single for the more unruly and vicious in A billiard and reading room is al ded for the amusement and instruction of tients Bath rooms with all the mod provements, are in process of construc A chapel will also soon be con truc where religious services will be held by Hyland and Pearne who have humane nteered to officiate in this servic It experience of late years, in similar in ions, that frequent religious services ac ish much good in quieting the patients storing them to reason.

re are some twelve acres of land at to the Asylum for farming purposes ground upon which it is situated is the most beautiful sites we ever be Already quite a garden is in a luxuriant of forwardness, which speaks well for of the patients who assisted in planting cultivating the same. Water will be lot top of the building in a large reser by means of a hydraulic ram Mr Bur civil engineer, has charge of this de nt, and has made an estimate that 8050 of water will pass into the reservoir gh a six-inch trough in 24 hours proprietors are determined to spare no to make the Asylum what every hu being would wish it to be—a model in u, where the afflictions of the poor un may be relieved, if not entirely They intend to remove their Hospi that side of the river also, which will better for the sick in thus removing the bustle and noise of the city.

y a number of our citizens have liberal presents to the Institution, whom are Messrs Ladd, Corbett, Ste and Stark. We would suggest that calculated to amuse or instruct the will be thankfully received by the such as books, pictures, games, Doctors Loryea and Hawthorne deserve credit for their enterprise in starting commendable Institution, erected own private means, and dedicated to of all poor and unfortunate human who are or may become afflicted with and kindred calamities, and we sin hope that may meet with a liberal re hereafter.

EXAMINATION —We had the pleas rday afternoon, of witnessing the part of the public examination of attending the Public School in this ducted by Mr and Mrs. Frambes, highly pleased with what we saw ard. The examination, though not conducted throughout the various taught, being only preliminary in its proved very creditable to the school lly, and, we believe, entirely satisfac the Trustees who were present We the opinion that the present Principal sistant Instructors have inaugurated rial reform in the management of this and it is confidently hoped that it may credit to the city, an honor to those d in its management, and a lasting and lable benefit to all the scholars in at ance. At the close of the exhibition, G. Gould, Editor of the Times, was ed to the audience, and delivered neat and well timed speech to the s, in which he presented many practi wholesome thoughts which we hope not be soon forgotten by those who heard Mr. Gould was followed by Messrs Fail , and others, each of whom en ed to impress upon the minds of th the importance of availing themselves favorable opportunity so freely offered of acquiring knowledge, and urg them the necessity of improving their moments in securing an education, when accompanied with virtue and ce will insure honor, success and hap in after life newly-elected County officers for Mult h county will assume the responsibilities their respective stations on the first of July thus relieving the present incumbents allowing them an opportunity to retire more to private life

CIRCUIT COURT.—To-day Court met at the usual hour Judge Page presiding No business of importance transacted

State of Oregon vs Hugh Starr—case tried and jury acquitted

The following is the Report of Grand Jury

The Grand Jury for the June term of the Circuit Court State of Oregon Multnomah County having performed the duty [illegible] in visiting the [illegible] jail and the penitentiary respectfully [illegible] that they find the jail in good condition, secure and comfortable In relation to the penitentiary they cannot but report the statement made by former grand juries of the penitentiary building but as from the information they have been able to inform themselves they are satisfied that it is not sufficient to justify at present the bringing of suit for non compliance of the lessees with their contract The system of allowing the labor of convicts outside of the building premises may well be condemned and we trust the coming Legislature will be able to so modify the same and improve [illegible] as to correct the evils so justly complained of by our people

We respectfully recommend the Prosecuting Attorney in so much as suit has not been commenced, as directed by the last Grand Jury, to delay the same until after the next Legislature, as it is understood by the statement of the lessees, that the whole matter will be submitted to that body

And having no further business, the Grand Jury ask to be discharged. THOS CARTER, Foreman Grand Jury

The Grand Jury was discharged

IN JUSTICE'S COURT.—A bit of a row and a knock down or two having occurred at the corner of Front and Morrison streets yesterday afternoon, and the parties engaged being arrested by officer Brannan and taken before his honor Justice Barr, one of the parties thereupon entered complaint against the other for assault and battery The complainant, [illegible] Lewis, a one armed man averring that [illegible] Riley did maliciously and without just cause or provocation forcibly and with malice aforethought, did then and there beat, strike and otherwise maltreat the said one armed man but upon an investigation the proofs did not quite substantiate the complaint, whereupon the case was dismissed at cost of complainant Immediately upon the dismissal of this case, another complaint was entered before the Justice, wherein a Mrs Mary Ingalls makes complaint against one Cobb, who she alleges, is about to do her great personal violence, wherefore she prays the protection of the Court We did not learn the specific items in the complaint, but shall probably know more about them to morrow at ten o clock, at which time this Cobb has been held to answer.

Locked In!

OR, THE ACCIDENTAL INTERVIEW.

"Accident? Yes, really accident!"

"Are you sure you did not know that I was coming on board this"——

"How could I?" interrupted the gentleman. "I only landed at Southampton last week.—Not a soul I knew was in London; so I took a run over to Dublin to visit Aunt Maguire. It's the most impossible coincidence to think of man and wife, ten years apart, meeting in the cabin of——. Are you going, Maria?"

The lady had risen from her seat. "I see no reason for my remaining," she said quietly.

"If you cannot bear to breathe the same atmosphere with me, I will retire," said the husband. "I will not turn you out of the cabin; I'll go on deck!"

The lady looked up to the skylight above her, on which the rain was pattering furiously.

"Impossible to stay on deck in a night like this," said she, with the faint return of the interest of a wife.

"Thank you for that, Maria."

"I did not mean that," she explained hastily; "I"——

"You are unkind not to let me think you did," said the husband. "At all events, since we have met in this strange way, do not let us meet as enemies."

"Enemies? No!" smiled the lady.

"Yield to a suggestion of mine for once," continued the husband. "You were taking tea—don't let me deprive you of that; it will refresh you; or"—his face lighted up as with a bright idea—"suppose we take tea together?"

"Together!" echoed the lady.

"Oh! don't be alarmed," said the gentleman; "you shall pay for your own, and I for mine, and we will have it on different trays, in the most platonic manner possible."

Despite the rapid beating of her heart, the lady could not repress a smile, of which her husband took immediate advantage by ordering tea for himself. The tea was then brought, and he placed himself at the table opposite his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Thirlby had been married in the year 1846. Miss Harbrove was a noted beauty, and Francis Thirlby a somewhat excentric bachelor. After a honey-moon, and three or four moons more of unmixed sweetness, spent abroad amidst grand old ruins, crumbling columns, and colossal statues, like ghosts of greatness passed away, under dreamy skies and over-spent volcanoes, they returned to cool and cloudy England—its tempestuous summers, mild though murky winters, and carefully concealed domestic hurricanes.

A year passed, and among old friends, old haunts, and old associations, easy going Mr. Thirlby became the usual careless husband, engaged chiefly with his Greenwich dinner and his clubs more than home, unless he gave a party, when he would shine with his customary brilliance. When alone with his wife, he appeared absorbed in meditation. She resented his want of assiduity, and he resented her resentment. She had been an only child; so had he. Neither would be the first to yield. Each was largely endowed with the fatal gift of sarcasm, and used it mercilessly. They stabbed their mutual happiness with epigrams, and battered down their home with the artillery of bitter words. Months passed in fierce storms and threatening calms. The last provocation was given. Mrs. Thirlby was jealous. She left the house, and shortly after a separation was mutually agreed on.

Mr. Thirlby, finding his fireside cold and his home merely furnished apartments, resolved on adopting a career. He had interest at the India House, and obtained an appointment in the civil service. Years passed. He returned; and as he looked at the wife he had once so loved, he felt that he could have begun his courtship once again; the last fourteen years were annihilated; she was before him: the old charm floated around her, and he felt his heart liquify as he traced the well-remembered features and their play beneath the swinging light in the close, trembling, rocking cabin.

Mrs. Thirlby sat with her eyes fixed on the tumbling sea—externally calm, violet-eyed, impassive, and grand. Her husband, leaning his elbow on the table, and his head upon his hand, said:

"Upon my word, Maria, you are looking handsomer than ever!"

A flush of pleasure surged up to Mrs. Thirlby's face; she beat it back bravely, but could not resist a slight smile, for she felt, with the self-consciousness of a handsome woman, that her husband had spoken truly, and as he thought.

"This is a remarkable meeting, is it not?" continued he, hardly knowing what to say, yet disliking silence more than hazarding something commonplace. "By the way, you have a servant with you, haven't you?"

"No," replied the lady.

"No! How is that?"

"Harriet had never seen the sea in her life, and she refused to embark. She said we were sure to be drowned; so I came away without her."

"How odd!" said the husband; "there's not a single passenger—I mean in this cabin—but ourselves."

"We are single!" said the wife, relaxing to a smile.

"Of course we are—at present!" said the husband.

"And mean to keep so," continued Mrs. Thirlby, observing that her husband's eyes were fixed on hers with an expression of deep interest.

Finding that his earnest gaze was noticed, that gentleman swallowed nearly a whole cup of tea at a draught.

"I haven't enjoyed my tea so much for years," said he, putting down the empty cup—"I may say ten years."

It was always Mr. Francis Thirlby's practice to jest when he was in earnest, until he felt his way, and his antagonist's power of resistance.

"Shall I be indiscreet in asking what motives you have in visiting Ireland?" he asked, finding that no reply, verbal or facial, was made to his last observation.

Mrs. Thirlby poured herself out a second cup of tea, and said: "I am going to pass a few months with— Oh!" she shrieked with pain. Thirlby rose with an anxious and perturbed countenance.

"What is the matter?" he asked.

"I have scalded my hand," replied his ex wife, applying her lips to the part affected.

"Allow me," said he, about to take hold of the injured member.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a TIGHT LOCKSTITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have a perpendicular motion; this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to soil the operator's dress. ☞ It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY,
Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases, and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending and Resident Physician, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War, Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds; Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary; the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

☞ Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

OFFICE HOURS—From 9 A. M. to 8 P. M.

☞ Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed, or no pay. Consultations, by letter or otherwise, FREE.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted!

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret disease—Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus' Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Disease, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above-mentioned diseases had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected, a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self Abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures.— Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of the State, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the [illegible] of disease, who, having recovered their former health and impelled by gratitude, make known their case and remedial agent, and the statements are well attested by a Notary Public. The grounds of secrecy [illegible] command [illegible], and we commend them [illegible] to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunately [illegible] similarly affected, [illegible] [illegible] night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared; and in fact, in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that once under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

B. F. FILLMORE.

State of California, County of San Francisco:
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April, A. D. 1856. Signed [L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 1856.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves, so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions, which I consider were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves a commendation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such [illegible] I was then led to believe [illegible] to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning; and although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.

[L. S.] MEYER YABLONSKY.

State of California, County of San Francisco, ss. Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 1st day of August, A. D. 1856.
[L. S.] GILBERT A. GRANT, Notary Public.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S Private Medical and Surgical Institute is on Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco. The Doctor offers free consultation, and asks no remuneration unless he effects a cure. ☞ Office hours from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

SPERMATORRHEA, or LOCAL WEAKNESS, nervous debility, lassitude, low spirits, weakness of the limbs and back, indisposition and incapability for labor and study, dullness of apprehension, loss of memory, aversion to society, love of solitude, timidity, self distrust, dizziness, headache, involuntary discharges, pains in the side, affections of the eye, pimples on the face, sexual and other infirmities in man, are cured by the justly celebrated physician and surgeon, Dr. L. J. Czapkay. His method of curing diseases is new, (unknown to others,) and hence the great success.

All consultations, by letter or otherwise, free.

Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D.
